General Politics.

The age of progress may be a proper designation for this nineteenth century, generally speaking, but we think that the age of letter-writing would more distinctly characterize the political aspect of that portion of the century known as 1853. Most essentially, this is the Republic of letters, in which men. otherwise of good sense, make fools of themselves upon paper; and fools exhibit their folly more conspicuously through the same medium. The se ries of letters to which the fuss about the New York Custom House has given rise, seems to have contributed a much larger amount to the current political literature of the day than its intrinsic importance would warrant, because of the fact that the leading actors concerned have chosen to exhibit themselves Difference, in print, their compositions taking the form of letters; all of which was simply foolish. A public man cannot be guilty of a greater mistake.

However this New York election may have result ed, we cannot but think that its importance has been very considerably over-rated. Although, to read the Herald and some other of the New York city Dividends Nos 2 and 3, papers, one would suppose that that "Commercial Emporium" stood in the same relation to this country that Paris does to France, a little reflection shows us that such is far from being the case-that, on the contrary, the known profligacy of its leading politicians tends, in a great measure, to neutralize the influence of its numbers and position, certainly On which there had been paid and charged in to an extent not compensated for the power of its wealth or commerce. The New York affair is sim- Leaving to be paid, ply a local squabble, and nothing but the force of letter-writing has ever given it any other complexion. Its influence upon the next Congress will be infinitessimal. Perhaps a fresh howl or two will be raised against the message and the reports, in which a stricter economy will be recommended in connec Steamers with New York Jobbers and speculators, triumphantly sustained.

From the Democratic Pioneer.

The Raleigh Standard is waging an unrelenting warfare upon Mr. Venable on account of his Distribution proclivities, and also on account of certain other anti-Democratic tendencies. The Standard also, in its course, makes an effective onslaught upon the new paper proposed to be published in Ral eigh as Mr. V.'s organ. For our own part, we do not hesitate to say, that all efforts to interpolate the Distribution policy into the Democratic creed, would, if successful, tend to the disorganization of our party and the annihilation of that creed as a unity. The policy of Distribution is emphatically Whig. There is no such plank in our platform. The Democracy of the country have sternly resisted the measure, and firmly set their faces against it. With the personal relations of the Standard and Mr. Venable, we of course have nothing to do; but when an attempt is made by Mr. V. to palm the Distribution policy upon the Democratic party, we respectfully submit that this is not the feast to which we were invited. Upon that point we shall have something to say.

During the late Congressional canvass in this district, this issue was fairly made and fully met. Our candidate planted himself firmly on the Democratic platform, boldly met the question, and the result is known. The people decided against Distribution; and the victory we achieved in that memorable contest was greatly enhanced by the fact, that in an honorable contest, in which our principles were plainly brought into direct issue, (the Distribution question being perhaps more prominent than any other,) our party was triumphantly sustained by the people. Having fought our common adversary upon this ground, and vanquished him, we should place ourselves in a very ridiculous attitude by now turning round and advocating this same measure .-We speak for this district with confidence, because we know the sentiments of its Democracy. They are not hy-birds, but go for a clean Democratic re-

And we regret to see any man of Mr. Venable's talents if he happens to be denounced as a quack by the or- as some folks imagine. thodox members of its organization.

It is well that we speak frankly. We like an honest, straight-forward course as cordially as we hate all circumlocution and indirection. We fight "upon the square." When an issue is made, we take sides; this instance, we see no cause for retracing our steps ; The price of flour and wheat was falling in the but having placed our foot upon the ploughshare, we will go forward

If, therefore, Mr. Venable proposes to thirst this brand of discord into the Democratic ranks, we can only say that the party will in all human probabity put its foot upon his neck." Men should never stand in the way of principle; and the Democracy of North Carolina are too well grounded in their ancient principles, to be swerved to the right or left by personal considerations. They wage no war upon men: but if in their onward course, men should prised if they are overwhelmed by the great avalanche of popular opinion.

WILL YOU READ THE TRUTH! MEDICINE must have merit, and great merit too, to stand the test of public opinion. No art of puffing can galvanize a worthless article so as to keep it alive as a good nedicine, if it be not really so.

A good medicine will live, become popular, and extend its sales year after year, in spite of opposition The people readily find out its virtues, and the fame of them passes from mouth to mouth with more rapidity than newspapers can spread it. A living witness, testifying to the cure a mediine has made for him, is of far more service than any news-In proof of what we s y above, we refer you to Hampton's egetable Tincture, and its effects. Its praise is in the mouths of multitudes. The best men of our country give heir testimony to its wonderful cures. Among them we name Hon, H. Clay, Hon, Richard M. Johnson, Vice Pro lent of the United States, with hundreds of others. Ca Thomas Canot-brother to the celebrated physician of Emperor of France-was cured by it of a disease of seven years' standing, after the skill of the Doctors of Europe and In fact the rich and the poor, young and old, in every place, a the city and country, find the same success attends its use

Hampton's Vegetable Tincture is purely vegetable, and

As a remedy for the various derangements of the Female System, it seems to have no superior.

THE FEMALE SYSTEM HAS, IN DOCTOR HAMP-TON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE, A CURE for its numerous and complicated derangements. Hundreds who have been debilitated and dispirited, and on the verge of a premature graw, have been restored by its use to blooming health, which we are abundantly able to prove by such a host of LIVING LIVER COMPLAINT AND DEBILITY Extract from James Harris, Esq's.
